Crino now
$10,000

The VSF appeals board has raised Oscar Crino's transfer fee to $10,000 after an appeal by his club, Marconi.

The VSF tribunal earlier had set Crino's fee at $1000 after Crino had argued that the $1000 was the maximum fee stipulated in his contract.

Marconi is believed to have offered $20,000 before Crino decided initially to appeal.

AT $10,000 he should have no trouble getting a club, but he now is considering fighting the fee in court.

"He's only waiting on his medical clearance," Keith said.

St. George meanwhile is negotiating for striker Zoran Maric, of Vojvodina.

Maric reportedly has agreed to join St. George as a guest player if he misses selection to Yugoslavia's World Cup squad.

Maric was in Australia with Vojvodina in January.

Kapetanovic out, Rasic in (?)

There's not a grain of truth in them, I know. But for rumors, they are fascinating.

Soccer constantly is full of them: they are floating around like yellow leaves in autumn, passed from lips to ears to lips, gaining momentum en route, getting little embellishments on the way.

One concern Marconi and possible (or unlikely) changes there. I have heard several versions of the same rumor, so put them in chronological order, classified them according to severity and present them here in their progressive shape.

DEEP THROAT 1: "We played terribly in Newcastle and soccer boss Ferrari was really unhappy."

DEEP THROAT 2: "The team had no fight in it and Ferrari blasted the coach, Kapetanovic."

DEEP THROAT 3: "After the match Ferrari told Kapetanovic to shape up or ship out. The club's in touch with Rasic."

DEEP THROAT 4: "Kapetanovic won't last another month; Rasic will be back with Marconi soon."

DEEP THROAT 5: " Haven't you heard? Kapetanovic has been sacked, Rasic is the coach but they won't announce it for a while. So help me."

Aussie dynamo off to Zagreb

By LAURIE SCHWAB

The long months of intrigue are over. Finally Eddie Krncevic gets the chance to succeed where his close friends Tony Henderson and George Christopoulos so far have failed.

Krnicevic left Melbourne on Friday to join Dinamo Zagreb in Yugoslavia. Henderson returned to Sydney the same day, after his proposed transfer to U.S. club Fort Lauderdale Strikers had fallen through.

And a few weeks earlier Christopoulos had returned from England after difficulties in gaining a British work permit had prevented him from joining Newcastle United.

Still, we now have Krncevic at Dinamo, Paul Kay at Charlton Athletic, Peter Sharne with Eastern in Hong Kong, Craig Johnston at Liverpool, Tommy Caton at Manchester City and Rene Colusso in Italy.

It's no wonder that Krncevic himself says that the best Australian-raised players are good enough to make it anywhere overseas.

— BUT HENDERSON DEAL IS OFF

Henderson meanwhile, will resume playing with Marconi against St. George on Sunday.

Marconi secretary George Keith said that after Henderson had trialled for three weeks with Fort Lauderdale at a loan fee of $5000, the club offered a transfer fee of only $25,000. Marconi had expected $80,000, so it turned down the offer.

Henderson would have received $150,000 over three years from the American club.

Christopoulos still is trying to get a transfer from South Melbourne Hellas to Canberra City. The matter is likely to end in court.

Dinamo was determined to sign Krncevic after the tall Marconi-born striker had scored 16 goals in eight trial matches with the club in November-December.

He scored four goals in his first match with Dinamo and three within four minutes of another match.

Playing against Udinese in Italy, he outjumped and out-fought even the great Brazilian centre back Orlando, who had been signed by Udinese for more than a million dollars.

"What they lack in Yugoslavia is forwards who can jump high for the ball, and who are good with the head," Krncevic said at his Pascoe Vale home the day before he left.

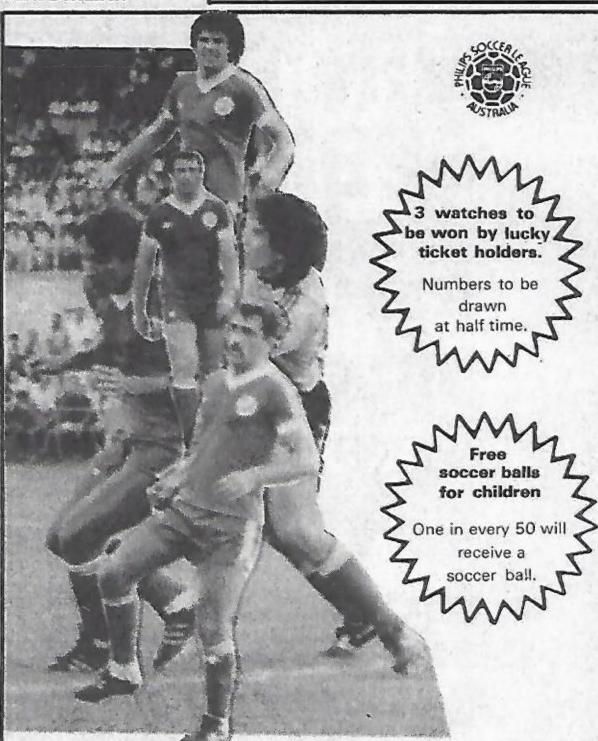

His mother, Augustina, was worrying about how much she'd miss him. His father, Mr. Maric, was in Sydney, paying Marconi $10,000 as a loan fee for Eddie. The money has been supplied by family friend Harry Mrkska of Melbourne travel agency, General Tourist.

Eddie couldn't have spoken more highly of Mr. Mrkska. "He had said all along he would put up the money, for me. He'll get it back when I eventually transfer away from Dinamo, but he doesn't want a profit."

No, I did not make it up. It's "Spanglish" or Spanish-English and one of the many hideous sentences in an official World Cup Bulletin.

There are many, many more like that, obviously translated from Spanish with the help of a dictionary; otherwise the "operatividad organizativa" could have become a simple organizing task force or some such.

Why in heaven's name the Spanish Organizing Committee hasn't engaged a fluent translator or an English journalist to polish up these incredible bulletins remains a mystery.

After this, I will not be inhibited at all during the World Cup in using my super-modest Spanish, ordering lunches with the equivalent of "me, sausage, eat, salad, green, nice day, thank you."

ceroo" program, host Tony Henderson had two young teenagers on his program, competing in a quiz.

The answers were sadly revealing. The whole ocean in a drop of water, as they say.

One boy, asked what nationality Madrano was, said "Yugoslav."

The same kid, asked to name three of the 16 ESL clubs, got as far as two, then gave up.

The other boy wasn't much better informed. "What's the nickname of St. George?" Henderson asked him.

The kid sank deep into thought, then spat it out: "George."

Miraculously, a vast improvement took place in the quiz a week later: two boys were blurt out the correct answers to fairly difficult questions ("Who is the coach of South Melbourne?" and "which non-Sydney team has won a PSL title?").

I am not suggesting for a moment that the kids had been supplied the answers — but it certainly looked as if someone had "lost" a slip of Wrest Point to sue the ASF?

By WALTER PLESS

Rapid-Wrest Point, Tasmania's representative in the Philips Cup last season, is licensed at not having received any payment as yet from the Philips League for its participation in the cup.

It is now almost 12 months since Rapid played its cup game in Newcastle. The season before, Rapid also participated and received its money within a few months.

Last season's game, against Weston, was beset with problems. An air strike meant that the players were away for three nights instead of one. This meant extra costs for accommodation and meals, not to mention losses for players who missed days at work.

The club doesn't believe that the Philips League necessarily owes it the extra expenses incurred, but the League does owe the club the standard fee — that is, a share of gate money and profits from the cup — a fee to which all the participants are entitled.

This is exactly what Rapid received the previous season and it is entitled to the same for last season's game.

Rapid's president, David Cook, says the worst thing about the whole affair is the lack of response to the club's enquiries.

"We've sent letters to the Philips League, to the Tasmanian Soccer Association, and to the ASF and we've had no response from any of them. We've not even had any acknowledgement of our letters."

The club's committee discussed the matter yet again recently and, in the words of David Cook: "We'll be seeking legal advice in the near future and then we'll know whether to take any legal action..."

Peter Wilson an APIA reserve

Peter Wilson and Sebastian Giampaolo are fit Again, but if APIA coach Willie Wallace sticks to his policy of not changing a winning team, they'll have to bide their time on the bench.

Wilson — former Socceroo captain, Australia's record-breaking international. Giampaolo — brilliant, fleet-footed, tricky goalscorer. What reserves!

And Zdenko Kafka has yet to return as well. He's still out with an Achilles tendon injury.

Yet without those three stars, APIA has been the early pacemaker in the PSL. Certainly there is no lack of depth at APIA.

Palinkas returns

Joe Palinkas resumed training with Brisbane City last week after shaking off a nagging groin injury.

Coach Nereo Sattich said it would be some weeks however before Palinkas would be fit enough to return to the team.

Meanwhile, there still is talk that Palinkas would prefer to return to Footscray J.U.S.T., from where he was sold for almost $18,000 two years ago.

Watch out for Adrian Santrac, the free kick specialist

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Which one's Santrac, which one's Santrac? That was the question they were asking at Preston Makedonia's home match against West Adelaide Hellas a few weeks ago.

His reputation clearly had carried over the South Australian border.

Star of Beograd Woodville, free kick expert, SA Rothmans Medallist in 1981...

Unfortunately for the fans at Connor Reserve, Santrac would not make his PSL debut until the following week, in a 4-0 victory over Wollongong in Adelaide.

But his goalscoring ability was not demonstrated until a little later, in the Ampol Cup, when he hit a hat-trick in a 4-1 victory over Para Hills.

He set up two goals, but didn't score any in the next match, against Croatia, and will be one of West Adelaide's trump cards against Adelaide City Juventus in the Ampol Cup final tonight (Wednesday).

Although he was a midfielder throughout his junior and senior career at Beograd, West Adelaide coach Alan Vest considers Santrac to be more valuable in attack — especially since Jimmy Wright looks like missing the rest of the season due to a serious leg injury.

What's more, Graham Heys and Manecas also have been worried by injuries in recent weeks.

Wherever he plays, Santrac will wow the PSL crowds with his expert free kicks, the same way he wowed them in the State League.

Of his 14 goals for Beograd in 1981, 10 of them came from free kicks.

"Placement, I suppose, is what I'm good at," he says, "I go for the gaps left by the goalkeeper. They reckon I've got quite a powerful shot as well."

Santrac's 24 votes in the 1981 Rothmans Medal was the highest winning total in the three years that Rothmans has been sponsoring the award. He won the medal from runner-up Steve Parkes of Cumberland.

His strong reputation made him a natural target for West Adelaide as it prepared to transform the team under new coach Alan Vest.

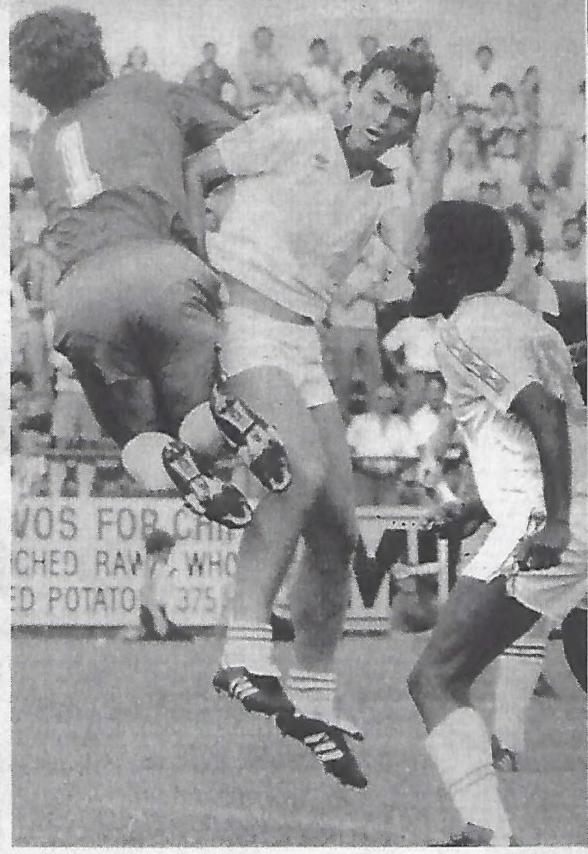

West Adelaide tried to buy him outright at first but the $8000 fee sought by Beograd proved prohibitive. Finally they settled on a 12-month loan for $1500, with an option to buy him at the end of the season.

It's his first switch of clubs since he started as a junior with Beograd at the age of 11. Surprisingly, he did not represent South Australia in any junior age group but when Vest was appointed State coach for the game against Vojvodina early this year, he included Santrac among the reserves on the bench.

Santrac has made his debut in senior soccer under the then Beograd coach, John Green, at the age of 18. Green further developed the skills Santrac had picked up from previous coaches Zoran Matic and Uros Zivkovic, to whom he still feels indebted.

It was natural for Santrac to start his soccer at Beograd, as his father, Milan, has played goalkeeper for the club in the sixties.

As his State League stature grew, Adrian Santrac found himself more and more closely

West Adelaide's Adrian Santrac challenges South Melbourne goalkeeper Peter Laumets. At right is his West Adelaide team-mate Manecas marked, even though he was playing in midfield rather than up front. "My toughest opponent always was John Francis of Azzurri," he says. "Francis usually marked me, followed me everywhere I went, and our duals usually finished up evenly."

Alun Evans — like a rock'

Santrac has found PSL competition to be faster and harder. "Players close you down much quicker. If you hang on to the ball, you're usually caught," he says.

Of the PSL stars he has seen so far, he has particular admiration for Phil O'Connor of Wollongong, Murray Barnes of Sydney City Hakoah ("a tremendous player — you really can see why he was Australian captain") and Alun Evans of South Melbourne Hellas ("he's like a rock — you can't knock him off the ball").

Hakoah is the strongest team he has seen so far. "They were saying before the season started that South Melbourne would be the best, but Sydney City appears to be a much tougher team and it looks better organised than South Melbourne," he says.

Santrac has no hesitation in pinpointing the reason for West Adelaide's spectacular improvement (West finished last in 1981).

"It's all been due to Alan Vest," he says. "He really has transformed the team. Watching West play last year, there didn't seem to be much confidence among the players, nor much mateship. Alan has revived the confidence and has the players working for each other now. He demands effort, and he won't have us feeling overawed even by the best of opponents. As for playing style, he doesn't like us to rush things and thereby risk throwing the game away. We have to be tight when the opponents have the ball, and we have to show imagination when we have the ball. He also demands that we play to feet in the build-ups, and cross it quickly when we go wide."

"Neil McGachey also has helped the team tremendously. He's organising his defence very well on the park, and he's a very calm, composed player. He'll always hold the ball and wait until there's something on, rather than belt it up the field. Alan Booth from New Zealand also has made a difference, because he's so tough and uncompromising and he has a high work rate, and of course Steve Summer, who's out injured at the moment, is a great leader in midfield."

Asked for his views on the state of the Phillips League, Santrac says: "I'm happy with the format of the competition but we must look at ways to attract bigger crowds. When we played against Sydney City, we expected at least 10,000 people but instead there were less than 5000. Crowds were tremendous in Adelaide in the start of the PSL in 1977 but it appears the novelty has worn off and we need to motivate the supporters anew. The people certainly are there — just look at the number of junior players and their parents. It comes down to promoting the PSL to attract them to the games."

"However, we don't see PSL soccer on TV in Adelaide, which bugs us all. Apparently none of the Adelaide channels wants to take the soccer show which 0-28 produces. They don't even have the PSL scores on TV anymore."

As for West Adelaide, Santrac believes it can reach the top four, or perhaps win the championship.

"Provided we keep up the effort and the enthusiasm, we'll be there for sure," he says.

And what of West's traditional rival, Adelaide City Juventus?

"They look quite disorganized at the moment and they seem to lack a bit of confidence but they have a lot of good players, so they should come good. I hope so, anyway, for the good of South Australian soccer — so long as they don't beat us."

Rudi's

No team under Gutendorf was the same for two consecutive games, which seems to prove he had no idea as to how he wanted to play.

This man, whose claim to fame is that he signed Kevin Keegan when he was coach of S.V. Hamburg, seems constantly to fall on his feet. He globetrotted round the world from job to job and as he "re-signs" from each job he manages to secure an even more lucrative position.

Pat Morgan from Ballarat, Victoria asks: "Watching our World Cup games against Indonesia and Fiji, I noticed a lot more commitment and will to win than was evident in our matches with New Zealand. Did you find Le Sheinfield a better coach to play under than Rudi Gutendorf and was he better at motivating the players than Gutendorf?"

Before answering this question, I would like to explain the situation and lead up to the elimination games.

Some two years prior to Australia's World Cup elimination disaster, Rudi Gutendorf arrived here and assembled his first of many training squads. While Rudi initiated we make the national squad like a big family, each new squad saw some faces disappear and new ones come onto the scene.

While the "Big" family effect was strive for, the national squad became more like a group of distant cousins than closely-knit brothers.

All the players who came and went got on well, - national squads invariably do - but just did not know if they would be around for the next camp.

Within the squad and the small group of players who survived each call-up, there still was no feeling of security as teams changed dramatically from game to game.

In fact there was a competition to see who would last the longest in games before being substituted.

By CRAIG MACKENZIE

Green gully Ajax is set to win its second successive State League title when Victoria kicks-off this weekend.

The all-conquering Ajax went on a rampage of success last year, claiming the league championship, Docherty and Ampols cup.

Only winger Bill Morrey and striker Kevin Wall are gone from last year's Ajax first team squad and the club has secured the services of former Everton and Wrexham striker David Smallman.

The classy Smallman first went on display two weeks ago in Ajax's friendly challenge against Melbourne Croatia and once he settles into the soccer scene here should become one of the stars of the State League.

The quality and depth of Ajax's squad is unmatched in State League.

Manager Bobby McLachlan effected a drastic upheaval last year by signing up almost a brand new first team. There's no need for such an upheaval in 1982.

Melbourne Croatia looms as one of Ajax's main threats for the title.

Paddy Bannon, Steve Short, Carl Gilder, Joe Trout, Howard Andrews, Alan Kerr and Noel Mitten have gone from last year's Croatia squad. In their place the club has signed Jeff Faulkner, Ossie Latif, Steve Potter, Sean Parton, Darko Duna, Jozo Antonovic and Josip Biskic.

As we went to press it was expected that Tony Curcio from Juventus also would join Croatia.

Bill McArthur is back for a second stint as Croatia coach and the committee, headed by colorful president Joe Sigur, is committed to success this season.

The most improved squad in the league surely must be at Juventus, coached by former Soccerco caretaker coach Tony Boggi.

President Bernie Santamaria has completely turned around the club's flagging fortunes.

Graham French, the three Bannon brothers, Paddy, Vince and Ged, Gary Clayton, Kevin Swinscoe and Mike Micek have joined this year and new Scottish signing, Jim Neilson from Clyde, is due this week.

Now coach Boggi faces the problem of blending these newcomers into a tight, well drilled team unit.

It may take time, yet there's no way that Juve will flounder near the bottom of the table as it did for most of last season.

Indeed, I believe that Juventus realistically can stride near the top of the table with giants Ajax and Croatia.

Sunshine is confident of great things this season. Under the joint management of Ray Pocock and Steve Gaw the "old spirit" seems to have been rekindled. Previously the Shiners enjoyed tremendous camaraderie in the first team squad which transformed itself into a never-say-die spin on the field. Pocock was part of that era which blossomed in the mid-70's.

If the squad regains its total commitment on the field then no team in the league will have an easy day against the Shiners.

Hellas-Hakoah appears the strongest of the remaining teams.

With Duncan Cummings and Steve Kakantakis up front Hellas-Hakoah should trouble most defences.

Sunshine, winner of the recent Buffalo Cup competition, goes into this opening league game cheerful of confidence but could find Wilhelmina an uncompromising opponent.

A problem for Margaritis but Wallace smiling

By CRAIG MACKENZIE

If Hellas coach John Margaritis sticks true to his soccer philosophy then captain Alun Evans will be on the bench against Footscray JUST on Sunday.

Margaritis is a keen adherent of the credo that says you don't change a winning wide.

Evens was injured last week and missed Hellas' 4-0 drubbing of Brisbane City.

The Hellas front line in that match — Charlie Egan, George Campbell and Branko Buljevic — performed well in the first half and Steve Woodin, who replaced Buljevic during the interval, scored and had a hand in another of Hellas' three second-half goals.

Woodin reportedly is doing well at training and showing little after-effects from the Achilles tendon injury which sidelined him for six weeks.

Understandably he lacks match fitness but it's odds-on that he will play again just.

Surely Egan and George Campbell won't be dropped after their performances against Brisbane City so who will make way for Evans?

New JUST coach Peter Jaksic has his problems. Jim Kondarios is back after injury but with a thighbreade squad in terms of quality and depth and an opponent of Hellas' class, Jaksic still needs two or three new men.

Hellas can regain its winning momentum against Brisbane Lions at Olympic Park No. 1 ground on Sunday.

Powerful off-the-ball runners in Gary Cole and Jim Campbell should make Lions deeply regret the premature retirement of sweeper Jim Hermiston.

If young Calvin Daunt plays for Lions he'll struggle to win the ball against rugged Don MacLeod.

APIA Leichhardt, with Marshall Soper full fling, should inflict a second successive defeat in Sydney on Alan West's West Adelaide which went down 4-1 to Olympic last week.

APIA Leichhardt, with Marshall Soper full fling, should inflict a second successive defeat in Sydney on Alan West's West Adelaide which went down 4-1 to Olympic last week.

Marcon's young stopper Steve Calderon faces up to the daunting prospect of having to stop St. George's Des Marton in Sunday's Sydney derby at George Stadium.

Calderon impressed me when I watched him play against Footscray JUST earlier this season. His positional sense is good, he challenges aggressively in the air and delays well on the ground.

Ivo Prskalo's a real nice guy, a genuine gentleman, but he must be one of the oldest sweepers in the world (apart from Mike Johnson). Still, Prskalo's vast experience will play an important part in backing up Calderon's exuberance.

I'm going for the Saints, though. With Mark Barton giving good service to Marton and Laszlo "Kojak" Lerinc creating havoc out wide, the home side should scrape through in what should be a tense, fiercely fought clash.

What happened to the free flowing, interpassing Canberra side of 1981 with Tony Brennan, Ian Gibson and Ian Purdie running rings around opposing defences?

Only coach George Murray can answer that question. Against Wollongong on Sunday at Bruce Stadium the locals get a chance to recover pride lost in their 5-1 thrashing against Makedonia last week.

Ken Morton's Wollongong (one-time aspirant to the title of Morton's Marvels) finally grabbed its first points of the season against struggling J.U.S.T. but the Gong looks set to face a fierce fight for every point this year and looks incapable of stopping Cannbera.

Brisbane City packs as much punch as Mary Poppins

Krcevic's transfer would have been finalised earlier had Marconi not sought a $50,000 transfer fee initially. That simply was too much.

So Krcevic appealed and had the price reduced to $30,000. He was prepared to appeal once more, after the stipulated 30 days, but in his own words, "I couldn't wait any longer."

Krcevic returned from Sydney after two seasons with Marconi. Having failed in his first attempt to join Dinamo Zagreb, he tried to get a transfer to his former club, Melbourne Croatia, but that attempt ran aground on the $30,000 transfer fee.

One suspects, that a deal had been made with Croatia that he would move on to Dinamo from there.

Although he would be a $100,000 player automatically if he becomes a regular member of Dinamo's senior team, he says he will have a $30,000 transfer fee written into his contract.

He also will stress to Dinamo that he wants to be freed for international matches should Socceroo coach Les Scheinfeld call upon him.

Krcevic has scored 17 goals in 33 games for Australia. Before that he scored six goals in seven official matches for the national youth team.

On Australia's tour of China and Taiwan in 1979, he set a Socceroo goalscoring record by scoring five in a 7-1 victory over the Taiwan City Bank.

That record was broken by Gary Cole who scored seven in a 10-0 World Cup win against Fiji last year.

Sydney City had the better of the first half, but with the ground thoroughly soaked, many good build-ups broke down in the puddles of Marksfield.

Sustained attacks by the Slicers brought two early chances for John Spanos who failed to find the net. His second opportunity was a sitter. Following a superb cross from Joe Watson, Spanos headed straight at the keeper from six metres.

APIA's first opportunity fell to Tony Morsello, but the nippy winger slipped as the ball came through many legs and Todd Clarke came out to pick up.

Midway through the second half, Soper and O'Connor gave chase and O'Connor was penalised for using his elbow on Soper. Clarke, who was preparing to take the free kick, O'Connor appeared to have pushed Soper inside the penalty area and the game was stopped as referee Rampley went over to his linesman to consult him. O'Connor was booked, seemingly for a foul inside the penalty area on Soper.

Sydney City continued to dominate play and almost scored through Willie Murray, then Spanos, then Murray again. Murray beat McAusland for speed to latch onto a through ball from Barnes, but his shot from an angle was parried by Greg Woodhouse.

Seconds later Watson started the move which almost brought a goal. He pushed the ball to Jim Cant whose cross was brilliantly headed by Spanos under the crossbar, but Woodhouse made a superb save by pushing the ball onto the bar and over.

Another cross by Watson found Murray with some space close to goal and on an angle, but his shot again was blocked by the diving Woodhouse. From the resultant corner by Watson, the ball was passed to Cant whose cross sailed over a group of players to an unmarked O'Connor, but he failed to control and another chance went begging.

In the meantime, Soper almost capitalised on some tenacious work by Jim McBreen. The tall midfielder fought for the ball like a demon, making sure the ball was finally pushed into the path of Soper. A rocket-like shot followed but Clarke made a superb save.

With time slowly running out, one of many long clearances by APIA's defenders found O'Connor alone. He pushed it into the middle for Robertson and he in turn decided to give Clarke something to do. His back pass however, was short and Soper race in to beat the diving keeper, then rounded his man on the ground to dig the ball out of the mud and into an empty net.

With time slowly running out, one of many long clearances by APIA's defenders

Adelaide Hellas's turn to cause trouble from a corner. Graham Heys sent the ball across and Honeyman shot just wide.

Marty Rogers and Phillips combined well in the 12th minute but Rogers' shot was cleared for a corner to Olympic. Again it was Katholos who took the resultant corner and he found Ian Rowden out-jumping all opponents with a towering header which opened Olympic's account.

Eight minutes later Raskopoulos set Phillips through but his low shot flashed just wide.

Then Raskopoulos set-up the dynamic Jimmy Redfern who passed to Mark Koussas but the agile Crook was on hand to avert the danger and save the day for West.

West hit back in the 35th minute. Heys surged down the right and played the ball to Tim Brown who levelled with a shot from inside the Olympic area.

There were no changes in either line-up at the start of the second half but it was Olympic which showed more attacking flair.

West found itself pinned inside its defending half and the coolness of Redfern in the 58th minute beat Crook to put Olympic ahead.

Little Redfern, four minutes later, tried a spectacular overhead kick but Crook, ever alert, was standing only a metre off his line and saved easily.

Crook saved a hard Koussas shot in the 78th minute but Redfern gathered the rebound and shot Olympic two goals ahead.

A young Marconi side, specially formulated to make best use of a very wet track, ran out a clear winner over more experienced Heidelberg.

Although the record books show a 1-0 win, the margin appears much greater to 2000 odd happy fans.

They witnessed two noteworthy aspects of Marconi's performance, one being the will to win that it threw into the match, the other being its ability to play for each other in a completely unselfish fashion.

David Mitchell, playing his third PSL game since his return from Scotland, was on the spot to pick up a soft rebound from the crossbar and head the ball into the open net.

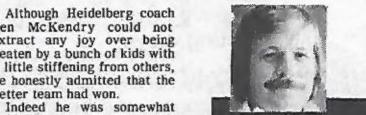

Mitchell struck again two minutes after the restart when he accepted a fine pass from John Nyskohus before lashing a powerful shot past Mike Mitchell's two goals have taken him to fifth spot in City's list of top scorers in the PSL.

John Nyskohus leads with 44, Dixie Deans 30, Brian Northcote 26, Gary Marocchi 15 and Mitchell 14.

That is a splendid achievement considering he has played barely two full seasons.

Mitchell's second goal destroyed St George which slowly referee Lorenc turned a deaf ear to a penalty call when Atti Carboni was brought down inside the box.

Frankly it was a difficult one to judge from the pressbox as Roberto Vieri, Joe Platane and young Joe Rizzo.

Home coach Don Kapetanovic thought that his team's winning margin should have been greater, particularly as right on half time. He was replaced by Yugoslav import Nikola Djuricak, who proved beyond reasonable doubt that he still has not settled into the Australian (or Marconi's) style of play as yet.

On the day Kapetanovic opted for four midfielders and two forwards. The midfielders did well and the four defenders, Vic Bozanic, Steve Calderon, Ivo Prskalo and Ricky Budini were in the thick of it for the full 90 minutes.

Paton and Cole might have scored late in the first half, but to no intents and purposes that is where the attacking finished.

Calderon was the player of the match. He scored following an 11th minute corner from Licata, and rarely put a foot wrong in defence all day.

but in spite of some close marking Marconi attacked and was the only team to look like scoring from then on.

Bob Provan replaced Taylor in the 71st minute. He did not fully settle in, although his defensive heading was an object lesson.

Cole looked dangerous with six minutes remaining but three defenders swooped on him and the Victorians' chance of an equaliser faded into obscurity.

A particular word for Marconi's Ricky Budini, who never said die and gave 90 minutes of sustained effort to play a big part in his team's victory.

Midfielder Bobby Ferris went on as a striker and finished as a sweeper in Brisbane Lions 4-1 win over Newcastle at Richlands.

Ferris was pushed back to sweeper on the 81st minute when youngster Malcolm Tuttle was forced to leave the field with a hamstring injury.

Tuttle has proved to be better than anyone else in the Lions' sound as a replacement and despite an obvious slowing up late in the game due to a lack of match fitness, Ferris' performance proved only to enhance his reputation as one of the club's most versatile players.

The wee Scot was retained when he swung the game Lions' way when he substituted Calvin Daunt in the 2-2 draw with Canberra the previous weekend. And in the first half Ferris did much to justify his retention.

Scored Lions' first goal in the 11th minute, when he pounced on a ball which rebounded off the upright due to a misguided backpass from Howard Tredinnick. In the following minutes he could have had two more if he had taken his chances better.

Ferris was pushed back to sweeper on the 81st minute when youngster Malcolm Tuttle was forced to leave the field with a hamstring injury.

If there are problems in defence they will no doubt be compensated for by the forward line where the Ron for retired sweeper Jim Hermitson and had begun to gain the confidence of his teammates.

The loss of Tuttle combined with the likely absence for at least several weeks of regular keeper Nigel Lowndes, who had 20 stitches put in his arm after falling through a window on Saturday morning, could have disastrous affects on the stability of the Lions' defence.

But if there are problems in defence they will no doubt be compensated for by the forward line where the Ron Millman - Billy Williamson combination is strong on cylinders.

Millman was far by the man of the match following a tireless performance which netted him two goals and a part in the build-up of the other two.

He still has the speed to outrun most PSL defenders and a heart the size of Phar Lap's.

The slow, and often square Newcastle defence, was tailor-made for Millman's quick runs behind defenders.

His burst from the wings, when Millman sprinted away but this time was tackled as he attempted to shoot. To Newcastle's dismay the loose ball was picked up by Williamson who cleverly slotted it away from a narrow angle.

Canberra coach George

Murray took a refreshingly different attitude in summing up the game, giving credit to the team's grit. Makedonia performance instead of blaming the weather conditions which played a big part in deciding the result.

"We didn't deserve any better than to lose 5-1. We were still in the game at half time but the defence capitulated too easily for me to be able to blame the windy conditions. The wind was there for both teams really and I had warned the back four to drop back to allow for it but we were caught square most of the time and gave away too many simple goals," Murray said.

The Canberra coach did not even whimper about the dubious 36th minute penalty which probably proved the turning point of the match.

The ball had been awarded for what seemed a fair challenge by Mile Milovanovic on Alan Whittle who, to his credit, made a meal of it to earn the referee's sympathy.

Doug Brown took two attempts to convert the penalty - the first before the ref was ready - but each time sent Hoszowski the wrong way and the goal counter to put Makedonia ahead 2-1 despite playing against the wind and after falling behind in the 20th minute.

Tony Brennan, an unusually mean mind, scored the goal with a fierce shot from the right side of the area which hit the inside stanchion and bounced out in a split second, leaving doubt among a section of the crowd whether the ball actually had entered the net or come off the post.

But Canberra's lead lasted only four minutes as Gary Ward headed home the equaliser to finish off a move involving Whittle and Brown with the final cross coming from the latter.

Brown had a field day and would have earned a perfect 10 rating had he not missed a second penalty - this time for a blatant foul by Brennan on Ward - five minutes from time.

His spot kick again sent Hoszowski the wrong way but it also went the wrong side of the post.

To make up for his miss, Brown scored the goal of the match two minutes from the final whistle, storming down the left after being fed by Ward, then cutting inside to catch Jim Murray off balance and finally letting fly from a narrow angle underneath the keeper's body.

Before that goal, the former Aberdeen winger made the fourth one for Peter Boyle, supplying the cross from the left which was touched on by Ward into the midfielder's path to hammer in from close range.

The other goal of the match - the third - proved what George Murray said in the first place. A long clearance aided by the strong wind blowing down the length of Connor Reserve caught the defence in a straight line and Ward's half-vit shot bounced off Murray into the net.

Rightfully, should be credited as an own goal but Ward, as expected, claimed it after the match.

The man with the most meaningful smile after the match was Richard Wilson for whom victory was extra sweet as he was playing against his former club.

"It was pleasing particularly because of the big score but I don't bear any grudges against the club. I think it was just a matter of being beaten by a better side on the day," he said.

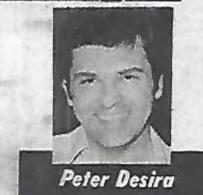

About the side's chances of mounting a serious challenge for the championship, he said: "We've got to learn to maintain the pressure throughout the 90 minutes. Today was the first time we did it for any length of time but we will need to be able to do it against the in-form sides in order to compete. If we do that we're capable of beating any side in the league."

The club is still searching for a stand-in keeper to take over Wilson's spot when he is with the New Zealand squad in Spain. Because George McMillan will also be away, it will be necessary that the keeper is dominant in the goal.

"Recovery" must be the nastiest word in the dressing room of the "banana-benders" from their namesake in hospitals often recovering.

People lose things, often to recover them later and even deposited tyrants have been known to recover their former power. But recovery and Brisbane City are unhappy bedfellows.

Methinks "Reach For The Sky" was dedicated to a couple of midfielders playing for Brisbane City.

Honestly, these midfielders couldn't even run the legs off Douglas Bader.

Campbell were yards faster than their opponents and capitalised on City's flagging spirit in the second half.

Egan skins limp banana-benders

The Brisbane boys were late arriving after missing their plane. The game didn't kick off until 3.20 pm and it took Hellas six minutes to create its first fine chance.

Egan shrugged off Peter Tokes' challenge and motored down the right before playing a low pass in behind the City defence. Branko Buljevic was just six metres out and defeated the ball against the upright. Buljevic's momentum carried him forward onto the rebound which came straight at him, bouncing off his legs and just wide of the near post.

The post again saved City three minutes later. That elusive little skinned Egan once more left Tokes in his wake, then cut the ball back. Campbell had to turn his back to goal to gain possession but he spun around sharply and let fly from 15 metres only to be denied by the same upright which foiled Buljevic.

A Campbell pilerived a few minutes later forced Kim Wishart to tip over one-handed.

Then John Stevenson somehow failed to strike the ball cleanly from just eight metres. The ball shot across the face of goal just wide of the far post.

Hellas' pressure was rewarded in the 36th minute when referee Voutsinas rated that Frank Lidel, City's recent signing from Hearts in Scotland, had handled inside the area when challenging Stevenson. Little Campbell made no mistake, wrong-footing Wishart.

Within a minute young Peter Carey hammered a blinding drive which flashed wide of the near post and five minutes before the interval the youngster broke through onto City's best chance. Peter Laumets came out quickly and Carey cleverly chipped the ball over Laumets with his left foot but with a fraction too much weight. The ball sailed inches over the bar.

Laumets again was in the action early in the second half when he dived at Billy Kelso's big feet and smothered the ball.

Then the tireless Willie Connor crossed from the right as Keiso galloped toward the far post. Steve Blair had read the play well and was in fine position to head clear.

Steve Woodin, appearing after injury in his place, had taken Buljevic's place at half time.

The tall Kiwi international played the ball forward into Egan's feet in the 53rd minute

weight. The ball sailed inches over the bar.

Then the tireless Willie Connor crossed from the right as Keiso galloped toward the far post. Steve Blair had read the play well and was in fine position to head clear.

From then Hellas was in almost total command.

Stevenson sent Egan through in the 65th minute and the quicksilver Scot rounded Wishart, then hammered the ball in. Egan spun around and ran toward the Hellas fans, a clenched fist raised in triumph.

Egan certainly is dynamite inside the area. His goal sense has paid dividends on six occasions so far in the 1982 PL.

That sixth occasion came in the 84th minute. Alan Davidson sent the ball forward to Woodin near the half line. Woodin cleverly touched the ball off first time for Stevenson who sent Egan away down the right. Egan squared for Woodin who shot. Wishart got a hand to the ball but it still trickled past him toward goal.

The incoming Egan made sure from point blank range and the destruction of Brisbane City was complete.

SOCER AROUND THE WORLD

Red Star, Liverpool, Real Madrid tumble

Belgian champion Anderlecht produced a superb performance in Belgrade to send Yugoslavia's Red Star tumbling out of the European Cup on a 4-2 aggregate.

Red Star, 2-1 down from the first leg of this quarter-final, was generally expected to overturn Anderlecht's lead in front of its 90,000 home fans.

Czechs' threat, Cruyff out

Czechoslovakia completed its two-match tour of South America with a well-earned 0-0 draw with Argentina in Mar Del Plata. The Czechs had drawn their first match 1-1 with Brazil in São Paulo.

Czechoslovakia were put under a lot of pressure by Argentina, as it had been by Brazil in the first game of its tour, but managed to withstand everything the world champion could throw against it. The Czechs even had the ball in the net in the 26th minute but the effort was ruled offside.

Argentina played with a considerably weakened team owing to a number of their River Plate players being suspended by their clubs. But, nothing can be taken away from the team. The 25-year-old Dukla Prague defender, Jan Fláha, shut Argentina's ace, Diego Maradona, out of the game. It can, it seems, be done!

Rada and Nehoda, both of Dukla Prague, and Ostrava's Seiner, contributed greatly to the Czechs' impressive performance which is certain to bolster their morale for the coming World Cup finals. Seiner blotted his copybook, however, by being sent off in the final minutes for arguing.

Two away draws against two of the top teams in the coming World Cup series must put Czechoslovakia in with a chance in Spain. The fine results are certainly a cause for concern for England and France, the Czechs' major opponents in World Cup Group 4.

It is, to think that Dr Jozef Venglos, the Czechoslovakian coach, coached in Australia in the 1960s. When, oh when, will we be able to persuade or entice men of such calibre to stay here?

Johan Cruyff has turned down the chance of playing once again for Holland. He was chosen in the 16-man Dutch squad for Holland's game against Scotland in Glasgow on March 23 but declined because he claims that he wasn't consulted personally by Dutch manager, Kees Rijvers. Cruyff claims that it was only through a third party that he learnt of his selection. He had intended to play against France 12 months ago but was given the green light opportunity because of a dispute about him wearing an advertisement on his shirt. This issue, according to Cruyff, has still not been solved. Cruyff always has been somewhat different. If one looks at photos of Cruyff playing for Holland in the 1970s, one can notice that his shirt and shorts always have only two stripes while the rest of the players are wearing shirts with three stripes, the symbol of Adidas. Cruyff refused to wear the Adidas strip because it was under contract to Puma.

Cruyff, meanwhile, scored a brilliant goal for Ajax in the recent match against MVV which Ajax won 2-0. The win put Ajax within one point of leader PSV Eindhoven, which lost at home 1-2 to Feyenoord.

Antonio Mattaresi, the newly appointed chairman of the Italian League, says it is high time that two foreigners be allowed to play in each Italian first division team instead of the present one foreigner. This, he said, would be in line with EEC regulations allowing free movement for foreign workers. The Italian Football Federation will discuss the issue at a coming meeting. Some clubs are openly opposed to the idea. The ban on foreign imports was only removed two years ago.

Forty-one referees have been named for the World Cup finals in Spain. Among them is Clive White of England, who is to take charge of the FA Cup Final at Wembley on May 22. He was one of the linesmen at the 1977 FA Cup final when Manchester United beat Liverpool 2-1.

— WALTER PLESS

But it was Anderlecht that turned on the style, winning 2-1 with goals from Win Hofkens in the 33rd minute and Franky Vercauteren in the 50th. Red Star's only consolation was a Dusan Savic penalty on the stroke of half time.

Red Star started well but Anderlecht silenced the frenetic crowd when Hofkens and Vercauteren beautifully flighted Vercauteren crossed.

That seemed to take heart out of the Yugoslavs although they reduced the deficit in the 45th minute when Savic netted from the spot after he had been pulled down by Hugo Broos.

Vercauteren, the outstanding player, crowned a great display by netting Antwerp's fourth goal of the tie following a Juan Lozano corner.

Liverpool of England, the holder was knocked out of the European Cup when an extra-time goal gave CSKA Sofia of Bulgaria a 2-0 victory and a 2-1 aggregate win in the quarter-final tie.

Liverpool, seeking to win the Cup for the fourth time in six years, went into the second-leg match with a 1-0 advantage.

But the Bulgarians, who lost 6-1 to Liverpool at the same stage of the competition last year, responded to the resounding support of a capacity 60,000 crowd and a headed goal by CSKA striker Stoycho Mladenov after 77 minutes forced the match into extra time.

Mladenov's second goal in the 11th minute of extra time sealed Liverpool's fate.

Liverpool defender Mark Lawrenson was sent off in the closing minutes to compound a night of bitter disappointment for the cup holder.

The famous "Reds", were involved in their second marathons in four days.

On Saturday they retained the English League Cup with a 3-1 victory over Tottenham in extra-time at Wembley and they were again forced to play an extra 30 minutes in Sofia.

Bayern, three-time former winner, suffered to a 3-1 aggregate win over Romanian visitors Universitatea Craiova when it was surprisingly held to a 1-1 draw.

But it had to play most of the match without Karl-Heinz Rummenigge, German Footballer of the Year for the past two seasons, who hobbled off with a knee injury in the 20th minute.

Rummenigge will almost certainly miss West Germany's World Cup warm-up matches in Argentina and Brazil later this month.

Substitute Aleksandar Panjotovic shot Radnicki Nis of Yugoslavia into the semi-final of the UEFA Cup with a stunning two-goal burst against Scotland's Dundee United.

Radnicki, trailing 2-0 from the first leg, looked down and out when United survived a torrid first-half, leaving the Yugoslavs chasing a seemingly impossible three-goal victory target after the break.

But Panjotovic wiped out the Scots' lead in the 53rd and 73rd minutes and Radnicki snatched an unexpected place in the last four when United goalkeeper Hamish McAlpine needlessly gave away a penalty five minutes from the final.

McAlpine misjudged a cross from the right wing and managed to palm the ball away. As he fell, he pulled down Sead Begovic and Branislav Djordjevic gleefully converted to send the 15,000 home fans who had crowded into the tiny Nis stadium into raptures.

Real Madrid, champion of Europe on a record six occasions, had to be content with chasing the UEFA Cup in 1982.

But its bid ended in stunning defeat as Real was humiliated 5-0 by Kaiserslautern in West Germany in their UEFA Cup.

Real, which went out 6-3 on aggregate, lost the services of San Jose, Pineda and England International Laurie Cunningham, all recipients of the red card.

Kaiserslautern was joined in the UEFA Cup semi-finals by compatriot Hamburg, Gathenburg of Sweden and Yugoslavia's Radnicki Nis.

Hamburg ended the thrilling kill-killing run of Swiss side Neuchatel Xamax, competing in the first leg.

Xamax, with the scalps of Sparta Prague, Sporting Lisbon and Malmö already under its belt, had looked poised for another victory when it only went down 3-1 in Hamburg in the first leg.

In Barcelona: BARCELONA (Spain) 1 LOKOMOTIV LEIPZIG (East Germany) 2. Barcelona and Standard both won 4-2 on aggregate against Lokomotiv Leipzig of East Germany and Portugal's Porto respectively.

Tottenham lost 1-2 in West Germany against Eintracht Frankfurt but went through 3-2 on aggregate while Tbilisi beat Polish visitor Legia Warsaw 1-0 for the second time.

Tbilisi, 1-0 winner in West Germany in the first leg, was not the entertainer of old — though it did not have to be again as a side which seemed to be on a tear-saving mission.

Legia concentrated itself by defending in depth and a 30th minute goal from World Cup striker Ramaz Shengelia was all Tbilisi had to show for its incessant pressure.

Kazimierz Gorski, the Legia coach, admitted that from the spectators' point of view the game had been a disappointment.

He said Shengelia's goal killed the tie and added: "To score three times against a team like Dynamo is an impossible task."

LEGIA — Kazimirs, Topolski, Yunas, Milewski, Majewski, Zalewski, Milaszewicz, Adamczik, Kakieta, Iwanicki. Kaiserslautern won 6-3 on aggregate.

In Neuchatel: XAMAX BEUCHATEL (Switzerland) 0 HAMBURG (West Germany) 0.

UEFA CUP:
In Kaiserslautern: KAI-SERSLAUTERN (West Germany) 5 REAL MADRID (Spain) 0 (half time 2-0). Kaiserslautern won 6-3 on aggregate.

In Nottingham Forest: JUSTIN FASHANU can't take a trick these days. Completely out of favor with Nottingham Forest, he said he was so desperate for a game he would play for the local gasworks team. The manager of the gasworks club wrote back to Fashanu saying he was interested in his comments but couldn't accommodate him as it was looking for a goalscorer.

Liverpool's super sub, David Fairclough, has turned down the offer to join Portsmouth on loan until the end of the season.

South Africa's skipper, Kevin Keegan, England's skipper, won't have to appear in court during the World Cup. The judge who originally set the High Court hearing for July 1 now has put the case back to October 1.

In view of Keegan's comments, he said his former commercial managers, Public Eye Entertainments of Leeds, for misrepresentation. They are counter-claiming for breach of contract.

Kevin Bond, the former Norwich City defender, has been transferred by his father, Jim Bond, to Middlesbrough in his own request. Kevin's insistence on a move stems from the fact that his successor Nicky Reid is a terrace hero at Maine Road and has been unhappy playing in the midfield.

Arthur Arntzen, Colombia's skipper, will meet Arthur Arntzen, Colombia's skipper, will talk to the highest paid soccer player in the world. For under that disguise he is none other than Zico of Flamengo and the man who tore Liverpool apart. From soccer alone Zico gets around $30,000 a year with his advertising perks not divulged.

Hull City's entire full-time staff of 17 professional plus three apprentices have now after consultations with the Professional Footballers Association secretary Gordon Taylor been put up for grabs... and for free. The idea is to slash the club's wage bill and bail out players whose careers are threatened.

Honor for Beckenbauer

Franz Beckenbauer has been appointed captain of the West German national side — for life. Although it's only an honorary title bestowed on him by the German F.A., the legendary Kaiser has not given up hope of appearing for his country in the World Cup finals.

Beckenbauer takes his testimonial on June 1 when his club Hamburg plays his country. He is only the third player in West German soccer to get the life title of captain. The previous two recipients were Fritz Walter and Uwe Seeler. If he doesn't get a spot in the West German squad for Spain, Beckenbauer may go as a T.V. commentator. Either way the 36-year-old star will hang up his boots at the end of this season.

Former Glasgow Celtic midfielder, Teodor Joachim Edvaldsson, who has been with Tulcea Roughnecks in the North American Soccer League, is travelling again and now with West German Second Division club Hanover. His younger brother Attili plays for Fortuna Düsseldorf in the Bundesliga.

Kevin Keegan, England's skipper, won't have to appear in court during the World Cup. The judge who originally set the High Court hearing for July 1 now has put the case back to October 1.

In view of Keegan's comments, he said his former commercial managers, Public Eye Entertainments of Leeds, for misrepresentation. They are counter-claiming for breach of contract.

If you are going to Spain for the World Cup finals and happen to meet Arthur Arntzen Coimbra then you will talk to the highest paid soccer player in the world. For under that disguise he is none other than Zico of Flamengo and the man who tore Liverpool apart. From soccer alone Zico gets around $30,000 a year with his advertising perks not divulged.

While the Scotland World Cup players will net a handsome sum for going to Spain as a squad of non-smokers New Zealand is sponsored by Rothmans.

Bobby Charlton, who has a coaching school in Manchester, is to open it up in Vancouver. Charlton is a director of Wigan Athletic which is well placed for promotion to the third division.

Glasgow Rangers' defender Greg Stevens, copped a six-month suspension following his fifth sending-off with the Ibrox club plus 19 bookings in three years.

Unbeaten Sunshine wins Cup

SUNSHINE 1 (Ellis)
ALBION ROVERS 0

SUNSHINE: Contini - Campbell; G. Ellis, M. Ellis, J. Ellis, N. Ellis, S. Ellis, G. Ellis, B. Ellis, N. Nelson, T. McNulty, T. - Mudroch, G. Petrie, G. Taylor, T. (Esposito, 80in).

ALBION: Lacock, T. McMillan, T. O'Brien, M. O'Brien, T. O'Brien, N. Nelson, T. Farlie, T. Reilly, B. Spiteri, T. D'Sylva, T. Smart, K. Caylor, T.

Sunshine went into Sunday's game knowing that Polonia's 2-0 defeat of Hellas-Hakoah had given the Shiners top spot in the Buffalo Cup table and a winning cheque for $1,500.

The Shiners also carried a few headaches onto the park from the previous night's celebrations.

Albion also caused problems for the cup winner but bed-fighting brakie Frank Munro's side of a win.

It took big Steve Ellis to score the sole goal in a drab game. Drab as far as Sunshine was concerned. Munro had other ideas.

"I wasn't impressed with the opposition. Polonia's the best side we've played in this cup," said the Rovers' playing-coach.

"That's the best we've played this year. Charlie Spiteri should have scored in the first minute and we missed at least six good chances."

"I was really pleased with the way our lads fought tonight."

Munro also thought that Ellis scored from an offside position. He claimed that he was the last man in Albion's defence and moved out well before Ellis ran onto the ball and calmly slotted it past Denney Lacock.

However, the goal was a testament to the off-the-ball running from Ellis who initiated the scoring move from well inside his own half and finished it off to perfection.

The Buffalo Cup hasn't been a success. Indeed, in terms of crowd response it has failed miserably.

It has however, provided eight of the 14 teams in the State League with a thorough preparation for the coming league campaign.

The appointed referee failed to show up for the Sunshine-Albion game and one of the linemen took over.

There was no presentation after the match even though the Shiners had tied up, lost or drew against Albion 10 times.

Last weekend's results:

ULYSSES KOKKINOS FOR NORTHCOTE?

Even with Norrie Pate in scoring touch, flanked by the talented Chris Taylor, the shiners will find Billy de Graaf, John Luyten, Don Pasman and David Brooks a formidable defensive barrier.

Pasmans surely is one of the most under-rated fullbacks in State League. He was Wilhelmina's most consistent performer last year but on Saturday he comes up against the skills of Taylor. Their clash is vital.

The only thing that's certain about this game is that every player appearing on Wilhelmina's team sheet will have his residency qualification correctly lodged with Soccer House.

Fancy Wilhelmina to finish mid-table in 1982. A draw against a fit, well drilled Sunshine, even at home, would be a fair start for Mike de Bruyckere's boys.

If de Graaf keeps Pate in check and big Steve Ellis is picked up whenever he ventures forward for set piece plays, the home side is capable of sharing the points.

George Cross v Polonia

Chaplin Reserve, Sunday

Kick-off 3pm.

George Cross and Polonia have as much chance of winning the 1982 State League championship as New Zealand has of winning the 1982 World Cup Finals.

Polonia has returned to State League circles after an enforced stay in Metro ranks and consolidation is the name of Polonia's game this year.

Ali Elmuhammed was Tassa's other scorer.

The following day, Sunday, Tasss topped Metro Second Division club Heidelberg United in the Dockey Cup.

Ali Elmuhammed scored with a shot from the edge of the area in the 60th minute.

many clubs in recent seasons and once he finds his feet in State League should do well.

Graham French, Fabio Intalantuolo and Tony Heery give Juve a ton of punch up front while Kevin Swinscoe adds much needed bite to midfield.

When it comes to winning the ball in the midfield third they don't come much better than aggressive Ged Bannon. Bannon won't be any pushover though. Peter Thurlow and Paul Corke are seasoned campaigners while Jimmy Train never knows when he's beaten.

Frankston City v

G.G. Ajex

Centenary Park, Saturday

Kick-off 2.45pm.

The young Frankston City side looks incapable of stopping State League champion Ajax.

Frankston's new stopper,

Paul Drinovszky from Melbourne, is in for a baptism of fire against hardened Ajax striker Gus MacLeod.

There was doubt as to whether we went to press, to prevent Peter Stewart and Carl Holford returning from the U.K. in time for this clash but Pat O'Connor from Sheffield United and new Townsville recruit David Whiteside should be in the Baysiders' line-up.

Paul Lewis is set to take the State League by storm this year. The speedy, blond-haired striker looks razor sharp and his nose for goals will provide Ajex with a lethal strike force.

David Smallman and Gordon Wallace should be two of the most polished attacking midfielders in State League. It's hard to see the Baysiders matching the quality of this pair.

And at the back Ajax boasts probably the best central defensive combination in the league in John Gardner and Stuart Cannell.

Gerry Bennett is back from Newcastle in NSW while Peter Lewis looks better and better going forward.

Hellas-Hakoah v

Croydon

Middle Park, Saturday

Kick-off 2.45pm.

Hellas-Hakoah, with Duncan Cummings, Steve Kakantous and big Tom Patsakes up front should make coach Jim Adam a happy man on Saturday night.

Croydon is without the services of experienced sweeper Alan Pongoh but Ian Hobson, ex-Herford United and Hull City, should give Mark Brown, Steve McCombe and Gary Hobson good support.

As we went to press Makondoni midfielder Terry Nolan was about to sign with Croydon. Alongside U.K. import David Corke and talented campaigners while Jimmy Train never knows when he's beaten.

Croydon's hopes for success in 1982 rest heavily upon the Loughnane brothers, Peter and Ian.

Rugged George Hannah probably will be Hellas-Hakoah's stopper and his battle with Ian Loughnane should be a match highlight.

Hellas-Hakoah keeper Lou Tsigaris should enjoy a successful season after under-studying Peter Laumets in Hellas-Hakoah's PSL squad. Tsigaris has good reflexes and technique and should be an outstanding keeper in State League.

Morwell Falcons v Croatia

North Cringan Reserve, Sat.

Kick-off 2.45pm.

Big chances were in store for Falcons' first team squad as we went to press.

Injuries to Tony van Baar and Dave Perkin have left Falcons' coach Dave O'Connor with problems up front and he was musing over whether or not to sign Richie McClune and Stan Webster from Hellas-Hakoah and Kevin Wall from Ayndell.

However the go-ahead Latrobe Valley club faces a huge hurdle against State League giant Croatia on Saturday.

Falcons' stopper John Higham probably will join the job of tagging Dave Brogan with Sandy Irvine sweeping up behind. At least Falcons boast experienced Billy Whiteside in goal and Croatia won't have it all its own way.

However Croatia's squad currently is of a higher quality and depth than Falcons and young Ossie Latif could start to repay the $8,000 he cost to move from Kellor Australia by finding his scoring touch here.

Latif has been dubbed "the new Tommy Cummings"

Hakoah has toughness! but needs Boden

There is a mental and physical toughness about the Sydney City Hakoah team which is going to make it difficult to beat in the title chase this season.

This was evident in its recent win over Sydney Olympic at Lambert Park.

It was a game in which the 'Slackers' did not play particularly well.

Not that they played particularly badly either, but after the first 20 minutes they always looked so much more determined than the rather frosty Olympic.

Olympic was boosted by an early goal which kept it bubblying for a good while but the will to win among the City players became more evident as the game progressed.

It was notable in striker John Kosmina's needling and hustling of Olympic sweeper Jim Zaros.

It was also seen in the lightning of stopper Steve O'Connor and the midfield tackles of Jim Patikes, Spanos and captain Murray Barnes.

Indeed the whole team, with the possible exception of

Mike Johnson

Recently City was able to beat title challenger South Melbourne Hellas after being on the ropes for most of the contest.

Physical toughness is not necessarily accompanied by mental toughness in the aggressive player's make up.

I know of several physically tough players who are inclined to blow up under pressure.

Indeed Slackers' O'Connor was one who at times has the frail, butterfly-like winger, Willie Murray, oozed an aggressive desire to win the important game.

The trade mark of a good team is its ability to win while not playing particularly well, even against top teams.

scoring prowess, just look at our record so far," commented Mick Jones.

Will they challenge for the top?

"It's still early days," replied Jones cautiously.

Riverwood 2 Croatia 1

Scorers: Riverwood: Jones, Parker; Croatia: Coleman

RIVERWOOD: Lachowicz, Berry, Doherty, Cook, Coleman (penalty), Juchnowicz ('Kumus'), Tracey, Stoidert, Parker, Murray, Jones.

CROATIA: Watson, T. Steary, Woods, Vidic, Coleman, G. Steary, Tomasic, Henswan, Thante, Rezo (Stevan), Caruzzo (Savor 7th).

Atti Abonyi, one of Croatia's returning players for the year (1), was the star of the show behind Riverwood's first success of the 1982 season. He instructed his players to aim low and hard if they received a free kick outside the penalty area and wide of goal.

With 25 minutes gone, Terry Jones smacked one across the goalmouth for Terry Jones to tap in from only six yards with Croatia's defenders anxious about a possible mistake, watching helplessly as the ball flew across the goalmouth and eventually into the net.

Riverwood continued to take the hard option to unsettled the favorites and succeeded until five minutes before half time, when a corner kick from the right was neatly headed home by Kevin Coleman.

Finally, with only 10 minutes remaining and Croatia pressing for the winner, the ball was cleared to the other side of the field for Brian Parker to run through, beat two players then send a low shot past Watson. It appeared that Watson could take the blame for this goal as he reacted late.

Atti Abonyi, incredibly a player of Croatia (on the transfer list for $8,000 for the past two years, and a second player this year), cut out the villain by being the mastermind of this defeat of Croatia.

Last year, Croatia went through the League (26 games) without a defeat.

Abonyi was happy after the game. "It was a gutsy performance from all my players.

It was an even game, with both sides having some chances to score but Lachowicz and Watson showed out in goal."

Rockdale 3 Blacktown 3

Scorers: Kirwan, Kratic, Johnstone (Blacktown); Sultana (Rockdale)

ROCKDALE: Kotzchampas, (S)

"We are open to see our club and I hope that will coincide with much bigger support for my team. We are playing an entertaining kind of football and that is what crowds enjoy. As for our goal scoring prowess, just look at our record so far," commented Mick Jones.

Scorers: Riverwood: Jones, Parker; Croatia: Coleman

RIVERWOOD: Lachowicz, Berry, Doherty, Cook, Coleman (penalty), Juchnowicz ('Kumus'), Tracey, Stoidert, Parker, Murray, Jones.

CROATIA: Watson, T. Steary, Woods, Vidic, Coleman, G. Steary, Tomasic, Henswan, Thante, Rezo (Stevan), Caruzzo (Savor 7th).

Atti Abonyi, one of Croatia's returning players for the year (1), was the star of the show behind Riverwood's first success of the 1982 season. He instructed his players to aim low and hard if they received a free kick outside the penalty area and wide of goal.

With 25 minutes gone, Terry Jones smacked one across the goalmouth for Terry Jones to tap in from only six yards with Croatia's defenders anxious about a possible mistake, watching helplessly as the ball flew across the goalmouth and eventually into the net.

Riverwood continued to take the hard option to unsettled the favorites and succeeded until five minutes before half time, when a corner kick from the right was neatly headed home by Kevin Coleman.

Finally, with only 10 minutes remaining and Croatia pressing for the winner, the ball was cleared to the other side of the field for Brian Parker to run through, beat two players then send a low shot past Watson. It appeared that Watson could take the blame for this goal as he reacted late.

Atti Abonyi, incredibly a player of Croatia (on the transfer list for $8,000 for the past two years, and a second player this year), cut out the villain by being the mastermind of this defeat of Croatia.

Last year, Croatia went through the League (26 games) without a defeat.

Abonyi was happy after the game. "It was a gutsy performance from all my players.

It was an even game, with both sides having some chances to score but Lachowicz and Watson showed out in goal."

Krankle, Koncilia worry Austria

Austria's appearance in Spain this year will be the fourth time it qualified for a World Cup final since World War II.

For a few of its more experienced stars, such as Koncilia, Obermayer, Pezzey, Prohaska, Schachner, Jara, Krankl and Weber, it's the second time around.

Peter, Dianich, Krauss, Mitteregger, Hintermair, Weizl, Keglevics and Hagnay are slated to make their World Cup debuts.

Hattenberger is also a rookie, even though he was in the squad which went to Argentina four years ago, but the excellent midfielder sustained an injury before the first match in that series and never played.

Injuries and lapses in form still can result in changes, as can the league championships and performance in it. It does suggest, however, that the backbone of the team will again be made up of Austrian stars who are playing abroad.

Manager Karl Stotz, who was fired last December, presided over the debut of no less than 15 new caps among the 21 who appeared in the qualifiers. Only one Austrian appeared from start to finish in all six matches, Bruno Pezzey.

Preparations for the Mundial include a series of matches against Bulgaria, starting with the game against Hungary in Budapest, followed by Czechoslovakia's visit to Vienna in April. South American opposition is expected in the Austrian capital the following month, while the league championship's final round has been brought forward to May 25, prior to the departure for Spain on June 8.

The firing of Karl Stotz has thrown Austrian football administration into a maelstrom of controversy. The situation is further exacerbated by the absence from preparations of Peter Prohaska and others who play abroad. Even their appearances in the spring internationals are in doubt, as at least some of them look likely to clash with important Bundesliga matches featuring Austrian stars in West Germany.

Many observers consider that these experienced professionals need only the minimum of time for joint preparation. It is a fact that in the main the team is unlikely to change very much from the lineup four years ago, but doubts persist about the chances of success.

The World Cup draw did improve the atmosphere somewhat, as Viennese experts do not think much of Algeria or Chile, and they consider West Germany as the favorite. Easy qualification for the second round is expected.

Two factors may undermine this confidence, the lack of scoring power in the forward line and the question of who will be in goal.

Keeper Koncilia is not what he was some years ago, while his deputy Feuerer is not in international class. Up front Krankl is only a shadow of his former lethal self, while Schachner's career in the Italian League hasn't fared too many goals.

All in all, Austria will have to come up with a major effort if it is to emulate its other World Cup greatness, which reached its peak in 1954.

Keepers Koncilia and Schachner are the backbone of the team, but the absence of Prohaska and others who play abroad. Even their appearances in the spring internationals are in doubt, as at least some of them look likely to clash with important Bundesliga matches featuring the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and many other bodies, has taken charge of this mammoth task.

The RCOR has appointed the Spanish consortium, "Mundiespana '82", comprising Spain's four leading travel companies, plus four of Spain's major hotel groups, to organize the distribution of all match tickets to foreign countries, plus all hotel reservations, internal travel arrangements, transfers and related tourist activities.

A new concept in organization has been developed, which will set the standard for all future World Cups, whereby the host nation assures foreign spectators that they have not only their match tickets but their hotel accommodation and all internal transport guaranteed. Tickets to games will not be sold separately without accommodation. They will be available only to
